Investment Philosophy

Philosophy	Greencape believes equity markets are inefficient. Sentiment and short-termism can mask observable dynamics leading to mispricing of stocks. Capital allocation decisions, and the ability to earn appropriate returns from such decisions, are fundamental to shareholder value creation. The influences of shareholder stewardship and business franchise strength on shareholder value are often underestimated.
Style	Greencape is a fundamental, bottom-up, research driven stock picker. Its portfolios, including the Leaders portfolio, are constructed to reflect the conviction that is the product of its intensive company visitation program. It does not seek to invest with adherence to specific style characteristics but it seeks to identify better than average management teams operating better than average businesses. Historically this had resulted in portfolios with persistent tilts to growth and quality factors but these will vary over time based on market conditions.
Approach	Greencape's research is grounded in fundamental analysis. Our efforts are focused heavily on an intensive and targeted company visitation program encompassing all participants in a given supply chain (suppliers, customers, competitors, regulators, company officials, offshore competitors). Piecing together information from various sources allows us to develop proprietary insights and ultimately arrive at better informed and high conviction investment decisions. The investment process involves assessing and rating four criteria, namely: Shareholder Stewardship, Business Evaluation, Valuation and Market Milestones encompassing both qualitative and quantitative characteristics. The analysis is ultimately condensed down to a single stock recommendation rating, facilitating both transparency and accountability.
